

VOLUME V

THE SCIENCE OF SCIENCE

by Alfred de Grazia

FOREWORD

PART I. SCIENCE AND PUBLIC POLICY

- 1. The Scholar as Government Consultant: The Great Salt and Iron Debate in Ancient China.....1.
- 2. The Scientoid Manifesto.....4.
- 3. A Hundred Policy Commissions.....6.
- 4. Missiles and Missals.....7.
- 5. Some Basic Propositions about Social Science.....8.
- 6. Government and Science: the Hapless Biologists.....10.
- 7. Problems in the Application of Systematic Political Science to National Defense Policy: A Syllabus.....11.
- 8. Applied Science without Warrant.....17

PART II. THE POLITICS OF SCIENCE

- 9. A Concept of Scientists and their Organization.....18.
- 10. The Velikovsky Affair: A Foreword.....23.
- 11. The Scientific Reception System.....26.
- 12. The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists and its "Scientific Reporting".....56.

PART III. RESEARCH POLICY IN THE SOCIAL SCIENCES

- 13. The Government in the Behavioral Science: Some Critical Notes.....61.
- 14. Replies to an Interrogation on Government and Social Research.....68
- 15. University of Minnesota Research in Social Science.....71
- 16. Prospectus of an article on "Operational Research by Social Foundations".....74
- 17. The American Chicago Indian Conference.....86.
- 18. Government and Science: The Case of Orion and Camelot.....87.
- 19. Recent Trends in Research in Government.....88.

PART IV. THEORY OF ADMINISTRATION

- 20. The Place of the Administrative ^{Class}~~Order~~ in the Social ^{Order}Class.....98.
- 21. Introduction to Human Relations in Public Administration.....174.
- 22. Expert Leadership and Democratic Administration.....177.
- 23. Frontiers of Public Administration.....182.
- 24. The Science and Values of Administration.....191
- 25. Three Models of Management Responsibility.....223

PART V. SOCIAL INVENTION

- 26. A Theory of Encyclopedism.....230.
- 27. Social Invention in the Age of Controls.....233.
- 28. Elements of Social Invention.....236.
- 29. Introductory Remarks on Social Science.....290.