"Kalos" is from an ancient Greek word for goodness. It came to Dr. Al de Grazia on the Island of Naxos as he was pondering the principles for a new world order. A book, Kalos: What is to be Done with Our World? was circulated in xerox form in the late 1960's and finally published in Bombay where a kalotic circle had developed. "Kalos" came to stand for the Global good and a world movement to achieve it. Unlike the word "democracy," Kalos refers to a specific program and structure and strategy.

From 1970-2, Kalos coordinators operated an experimental college in Switzerland for new forms of education. Because of indifference and ignorance in many places progress has been slow and painful. However the Kalos movement has begun to acquire momentum, and to recruit members from all countries.

Kalos is a pragmatic ideal that continually adjusts to current demands without shifting from its elemental foundations. To the highest degree possible, Kalos seeks peacefully to bring about the revision of the theocratic, militaristic, plutocratic, communist and authoritarian regimes of the world. A Chinese, an Indian, a Russian and an American share the same basic needs and hopes and all can therefore apply the same Kalotic strategy within their personal life-niches. Kalos proposes drastic reforms that are desperately needed in the internal and external life of nations; domestic tranquillity and progress are inseparable from world peace and progress.

KALOS IS FULLY POWERED AND TOTALLY FUNCTIONAL

How is Kalos Different? Kalos is distinct in many ways. For one thing, Kalos differs from existing reform groups because it recognizes that world policies must be systemic (not isolated) and depend upon political power.

The politics of Kalos are global functionally as well as geographically. Arms reductions, human rights, food production and distribution, technological transfers, disease control, water supply, urban blight, education, finance, communications, racial equality, working conditions, women's rights — all these problem areas can be definitely and permanently handled only if they are understood to be connected all together. Individual social reforms must be compatible parts of total world reform, and can only be handled if they are hitched to Kalotic elements in the world power structure.

General political powerlessness blocks individual reforms and general world reforms. Political power is the infrastructure of all reform. Every Kalotic scientist, teacher, technologist, communicator, military officer, and active citizen — every reformer in a special field must recognize that one's true and final success depends upon being part of a general improvement in the power situation of one's counterpart reformers in other areas of reform. A major aim of Kalos is to facilitate the intelligence and coordination of the reformers from all the special fields of social struggle.

Your good-will, skills and energy are needed in Kalos, because

Fortunately, "1984" was not the year of final victory for totalitarianism in the world, nor the year of suicide for the human race. But do not let 1985 be the evil year either! Instead, help make 1985 the year when the Kalotic movement launched its first counterattacks on behalf of global well-being, justice, and freedom, and against misgovernment and misery.

To become a member of the Kalotic movement, write us that you wish to be enrolled, give us your address, and also tell us what kind of activity you are skilled at (such as news-gathering, distributing material, repro-printing, collecting funds, recruiting, organizing, selling, instructing).

You will receive the K-letter by airmail regularly and quickly. (As soon as possible it will be published in all major languages). You will also get supplementary materials relating to your interests and to your probable functions in the movement. You will also receive personal correspondance from other members, and meet with them.

Kalos will publish an increasing volume of manuals and exercises on Kalotic world change; it will embrace an ever-larger membership; it intends to bring ever-intensifying pressures to bear upon individual governments and groups of governments and public associations, so that they will throw their weight onto the scales for Kalotic world government.

Some K-Considerations

In July, 1921, a dozen Chinese, meeting under humble circumstances in Paris, composed the First Congress of the Chinese Communist Party, which by 1949 had mastered the most populous nation on Earth. Elapsed time for a revolution, good or bad, can be very short. Comparisons, even shorter, include the American Revolution 1775-83; the French Revolution 1789-93; the Soviet Russian 1898-1918; the Nazi German 1923-33; the Cuban 1953-9; the League of Nations 1917-9. ~~Some~~ Kalies should take heart; none of these had less obstacles, except the League, which USA isolationism and Allied rotten chauvinism wrecked. Kalos needs to cultivate kalokinesis -- the energetics of fast good major change.

*****

G-France, with its peaceside economy in poor shape, ~~gladly~~ gleefully announces this month a great increase in recent exports of deadly weapons, $6 billion for 1984, twice the huge sales of 1983. One-half went to oil-rich Saudi Arabia and Abou-Dhabi, and was of course paid for by the people of the world needing oil, the poor ones of India cutting down their last trees to cook their one meal a day. Worldwide military spending is $520 billion, much more than needed and spent for all the food, clothing and education of the whole world. The USA, USSR, France, and UK supply 80% of the arms trade of the world ($35 billion), all encouraged and controlled by their governments.

*****

The USA society has heavy doses of taxocracy (bureaucratic rule) and plutocracy (rabid consumerism). Most people there work for or live off government directly or indirectly but refuse to admit it to themselves. Most spending that is not for weapons is for unhappy extravaganzas. Yet the dystocratic (Third World) elites envy this USA extravaganza. Or they resist it by reacting with some native cult extremism as in Iran or Northern Ireland.

*****

The G-USA is alarmed at the Soviets blundering into Afghanistan, but cannot wait to go blundering into Nicaragua.

Acid rain is a multi-national effort and effect. Capitalist and communist factories surrounding the area of the Northern Lights ~~are~~ compete to destroy the Arctic Circle section of the Globe. A gigantic Bhopal Gas Cloud for the Northern biosphere!

~~*****~~ Governments with stations in Antarctica have formed an association by treaty. Without a station your government cannot join the Club, but on Visitors' Day members can have guests, so you may yet be allowed in. Actually the K-World owns Antarctica and will repossess the whole business in due course.

Communism would have made much more progress in the past 40 years if the Third World had been less frightened by the G-USSR's monolithic political discourse and constrained domestic society. <sup>G-USSR</sup> is an overwhelmingly taxoc regime and engages in the world society in the same manner. It has in consequence lost many an opportunity to establish and maintain its influence. It has limited its role in the world government to "co-existence" based upon self-containment and local sovereignty. Does anyone know of a Soviet plan for world government? Is there any Soviet book comparable to Kalos, which addresses in detail operationally what is to be done with our world and The world would read such a work with great interest.

~~IF KALOS HAD $10 MILLION TO SPEND THIS YEAR, HE COULD DO MORE TO CHANGE WORLD-W~~

If Kalos had $10 million to spend this year, it would do more to change the world for the better than any existing government spending 10 or 1000 times as much on foreign affairs. Besides including some 300 million untouchables as <sup>constituents,</sup> ~~some~~ K numbers some millionaires who should be touched. Now, really, Kalos, put up your money for the best investment in history!

to try to ~~stop them~~ stop them. That is wonderful news! Should not all NATO troops be sent home forthwith and the Warsaw Pact governments told, "Do not invade us or we will nuke you."? But then, since one nuke only leads to another, then another, and both the G-USSR and G-USA are pledged not to use nukes first, why not dismantle the nukes and send them home also? But then Europe will be at the mercy of the Communist G's. Well, then, the Soviet G's are at NATO's mercy, too, because if they attack NATO countries everybody will be nuked. So they, too, should send their troops home. And they should disassemble their nukes, too. This all is probably too much for the militaristic mind to grasp, although ordinary military minds are capable of ready comprehension. So one gets the angry but weak retort, "one nuke does not necessarily lead to another," which they do not really believe, nor does anyone else believe so.

~~one gets the feeble~~

A Worldwide Freeze of Union Carbide
and Its Double Standard at Bhopal

The quarter-million victims of the gas cloud emitted from Union Carbide Corporation's pesticide factory at Bhopal on December 3, 1984 are still in a tragic condition -- demoralized, sick, undernourished and unemployed. The Corporation has been resisting reasonable settlement. (The most exact and logical thus far published is contained in the book, "A Cloud over Bhopal." It calls for $1.3 billion, in several modes of compensation.) Court proceedings are ~~moving~~ <sup>moving</sup> at normal speed, therefore slowly.

Union Carbide, like #other large #corporations, claims that it values people above profits. Yet everyone who holds a share of the Corporation stock has just been given a generous dollar ~~dividend~~ <sup>dividend</sup>. Nothing has been given to the victims. Here ~~is~~ <sup>is</sup> a vicious double standard. Further, the #Chairman still gets a million dollars a year, and salaries of the executives responsible for Bhopal have remained unaltered. No signs of conscience are apparent for having ruined a City's life. The World Public, which was aroused initially by the disaster, has turned aside, lulled by a silent press, ~~a silent~~ <sup>a silent</sup> ~~establishment~~ industry, <sup>a silent</sup> government.

What is to be done? If the Kalos movement were large and had money, it would lead a worldwide freeze of the Corporation's activities, so #as to make it settle quickly and justly. Who else in the world might do so? Consumers' groups, environmental groups, labor unions, #many newspapers, student groups, public interest lawyers, legislators of many national parliaments (perhaps even the Non-Aligned Nations), United Nations <sup>by</sup> personnel and even the UN Assembly, officials of many kinds and in many places: all of these and more are potentially available. K is in touch with everyone concerned, but finds only a few groups ready to act.

Union Carbide Corporation has factories in 40 countries, and offices, outlets, suppliers, shippers, warehouses, and consumers in practically every country. The limit to the losses it can stand can be estimated as 50% of the settlement required,

Bhopal

~~quired~~ that is, $650 million. This is 5% of UC world annual sales receipts, and twice its annual profits. To reduce UC revenues by 5% and erase its #profits can be done by even partial successes achieved by striking its factories worldwide; discouraging entry into its offices, plants, suppliers, warehouses, and sales outlets everywhere, beginning at Bhopal at midnight and spreading throughout the world, following the clock Westwards, and striking its Danbury Connecticut, U.S.A., Headquarters, at 10:00 A.M.; applying consumer boycotts of all UC products, including pressures upon purchasers of the company's industrial products to <sup>induce them to</sup> use alternative sources of supply; conducting rallies and demonstrations on behalf of the Bhopal victims worldwide; # filing suits on behalf of victims worldwide and in the World Court; demanding that shareholders, including pension funds, educational institutions, foundations, banks, and conscientious individuals, divest themselves of their UC shareholdings; urging legislatures and government officials worldwide to cease cooperation with and enforce regulations governing UC facilities, and to investigate UC practices in finance, foreign exchange, patent monopolies, environmental degradation, working conditions, and compensation for worker injuries.

As the days go by without a just settlement, all of these actions offer themselves as possibly the only hope and means of forcing ~~Union Carbide~~ <sup>Union C</sup> Carbide to compensate justly the Bhopal victims in the here and now.

Mounting Anger <sup>vs</sup> ~~to~~ Apartheid Regime

No sooner had K-India appealed <sup>for</sup> G-Indian leadership <sup>in</sup> bringing down the disgusting Apartheid Regime of South Africa when Rajiv Gandhi led a protest of the Unalign<sup>ed</sup> Movement of 80 nations (NAM) against Apartheid Africa's seizure of power in Namibia (Southwest Africa) against the will of the UN. And, in the name of India, <sup>he</sup> accorded full diplomatic recognition to SWAPO, South-West African People's Organization, whose President is Sam Nujoma. On April 21, the NAM called upon all<sup>nations</sup> to <sup>break</sup> off diplomatic relations <sup>with</sup> and to impose an economic and oil embargo of Apartheid Africa, and, further, to <sup>end</sup> military and economic aid to SWAPO. NAM also urged the U.S.A. to cease <sup>its</sup> encouragement of the maneuvers engaged in by the regime <sup>in trying</sup> to avoid its downfall; ~~and~~ it condemned <sup>to</sup> the transnational corporations that have been cooperating with the regime.

In the U.S.A. thousands of university students turned out in prolonged demonstrations and picketing to persuade and compel the trustees of their institutions, among them Princeton, Columbia, and Cornell, to sell their holdings in corporations operating in Apartheid Africa. <sup>The students</sup> called, too, for public support against the Reagan Administration's go-easy policy toward that government.

Johnson's Aggression against N. Vietnam

The "Gulf of Tonkin Resolution" of the U.S. Congress, which President Johnson used to escalate sea and air war against North Vietnam in 1964 was based upon self-deception and falsehood. Documents now released and analysed by Robert Scheer of the Los Angeles Times show that NV gunboats did not attack U.S. warships, even though these were helping S.Vietnamese raiding parties. Poor visibility, deluding radar blips and sonar noises, and confused intercepts of N.V. communications provided the pretexts that Johnson badly wanted. He forced a hasty decision to launch the first air bombing, <sup>so as</sup> to be able to announce the event on a late-evening election campaign speech. Then he asked Congress urgently to give him the authority to "defend U.S. security in the area." **** Governmental behavior on the brink of war cannot be trusted. (British Prime Minister Thatcher behaved in similar ways in the Falklands-Malvinas case; Hitler brazenly lied to the Germans and world that the Poles were attacking when he started World War II in 1939.) In 1964 the G-USA badly needed a superior authority to calm it down and prevent chicanery. It needs one now and always. So do all governments. Nearly every year since 1935 (G-Italy in Ethiopia) the world has stood by and watch<sup>ed</sup> the Chicanery Process occur, and a multitude of occasions ~~ina multitude of occasions~~ before then in history.

p. K-Smenda 1

Letter to a Kalie

Dear K-Smenda:

When anybody ~~and~~ any idea agrees with us, let's attach the letter "K" to them. "It's K-policy to reduce national populations to ~~zero~~ growth through allotting benefitted quotas." (see K-Note #1) It's K-policy to ~~push~~ <sup>unilateral</sup> for nuclear disarmament in ~~Britain~~. "The fall of ~~the~~ Apartheid Regime in South Africa is K-OK, right, Mr. K-Smenda?"

Shouldn't we also use "K" for the Government of a country, to distinguish the government from its people, who may be K-OK?" Thus, USA is a society of people, but G-USA is a government that often behaves in ways that the people would rather it didn't, usually bad, ~~but~~ sometimes good. Also G-Argentina, G-USSR, and so on.

Kalos has <sup>coined</sup> several special words; ~~and for some~~ we mentioned several in K-Note #1. Just a very few. For example the USA and Western Europe are not really capitalistic societies because they are half or more socialist and the capitalist parts are bureaucratic ~~as~~ practically as much as the socialist sections. ~~so~~ We often call them plutocracies because they are preoccupied with consumption and money-making, though also bureaucratic (taxocratic) and military-dominated. We sometimes call the USSR taxocratic ~~rather than communist~~ ~~rather than communist~~ rather than communist, because it is more of a completely bureaucratic state ruled by a centralized system of offices and officeholders (The syllable "tax" here has the ancient Greek meaning of office, ultimately becoming the "taxes" of today.) And so on: we can use "stratocracy" ~~and militarism~~ for a military government, <sup>strato</sup> coming from the Greek for army; and the term "dystrocracy" is useful to call attention to the countries where little appears to be organized to cope with the modern age; most countries are dystrocracies, and every country has its dystrocratic institutions and so little is practiced of the known capabilities of groups for good works problems; ^ by such words we can often avoid the emotional and -- even presumptuousness -- prejudicial overtones of calling states capitalist or communist or developing countries.

The language of much of Kalos is English because English is the most available language: more people speak it, and English-speaking is more common in more localities than other-language-speakers. Several of us would prefer Hopi, but there are only ~~one~~ a few of us Hopis in the world. Please translate as much as you can into your own language and circulate it to breed new Kalies. Copyright is freely given.

Perhaps you can develop a K-language for all the world. You might begin with K-pidgin. It is not too difficult to contrive and impart because we are dealing with a limited number of basic terms, phrases, ideas, to begin with. We can ~~begin~~ <sup>begin</sup> with simple ~~basic~~ <sup>U.S.A.</sup> K-pidgin and add Spanish, Chinese, ~~and~~ <sup>and</sup> Slavic, Arabic, Malayan, <sup>and</sup> Hindi words as we go along. Seek a small vocabulary and simple meaningful expressions. Develop a statistical and operational syntax; we mean, build into the language the ability to think in quantitative ways and to transform ~~the~~ language into actions and reflect actions exactly in words. All the ~~the~~ world will understand when you say "Me 2 K $ better all no-K $. K-action speak better K-word. K-word better no-K word." Almost all.

Send us K-names and addresses, K-Smenda, send us ~~money~~ K-money, ~~money~~ K-counsel, K-money, K-translations, K-money, K-position papers, K-money, K-news, K-money,, and anything else you can think of along with the money. But use some of your money too for your own K-office, K-publishing, K-postage, and K-expenses.

Olympic 1

Kalotic or Olympic Games

The World Olympic Games need to be reformed. Important features are bad. They are the offspring of the fantasies of some nineteenth century West European gentlemen, for one thing, product of a bygone day, false to the modern age, not even true to the Greek ~~ancient~~ prototype. Little by little the ancient sports, unpracticed today, have receded in favor of more meaningful modern sports. Greco-Roman wrestling has been modified and judo introduced. However, the games that permit division into sub-units infinitely have multiplied, so that swimming and running races are disproportionately present. They figure heavily in the scoring, which has turned out to be a travesty of chauvinism.

But the whole spirit of the games is chauvinistic. If the G-USA is mad at the G-USSR, it boycotts the games and vice versa. Then all the the world is pressured to support the super-power pique of the moment whether it is the G-USA against Soviet troops in Afghanistan or the G-USSR against letting its athletes be subject to ~~seduction~~ seduction and defection <sup>via</sup> the C.I.A. and USA promoters.

~~Even~~ Even when the so-called super-powers are cooperative, the games, with their interminable chauvinistic ceremonies and nationalistic scoring and commercial publicity violate the integrity of the individual athletes, ~~and~~ <sup>the</sup> trainers, and <sup>the</sup> particular teams.

The principle of amateurism is a farce. The socialist state logically declares that all of its people work for the state and therefore athletes do too; the plutocratic state says that its athletes are not really paid for their prowess if they ~~find~~ find themselves with rich fellowships and lucrative advertising contracts before and after winning. <sup>Any</sup> why should the amateur ideal of the old gentlemen be so venerated? It is snob and classism.

The personal athletic and team performances are the ideal. It is true that what is happening now will happen more often ~~if "amateurism" is ignored~~ <sup>if "amateurism" is ignored</sup>

~~Professional~~ athletics and sport will ~~become~~ <sup>become</sup> more proficient the <sup>the money</sup> more that their supporters can pay <sup>for them</sup> and a poor country may suffer from inability to afford grand payments. ¶ The poor and smaller races of mankind undergo discrimination too in the ~~the~~ <sup>roster</sup> ~~of~~ of games, where height and bulk figure strongly; the difference is notable, too, in the attempt to create sexual equality by women's games, and the women who can qualify in height and bulk are only a small proportion of the world's women, North European, Slavic, U.S., some Black strains.

Examining the game of basketball, we conclude that there should be a <sup>counterpart</sup> ~~Tunnel-Dig~~ in which ~~a team of two~~, starting from opposite points, equipped with small spades, have to dig tunnels and reach <sup>and pass</sup> ~~each~~ other underground in the shortest time possible. What fun! What, you say, this is unprecedented? Did not most of the games originate in warfare -- with javelins, and shotputs, and horse-riding? And were not the U.S.A. troops <sup>in Vietnam</sup> ~~embarrassed~~ continually by the tunnel-digging of the Viet Cong? Which suggests a second game. Rope-weaving and bridging and crossing by hand a chasm. What a thriller! ¶ There is a cultural bias, too, <sup>for instance,</sup> where is the sport of kubbardi, played by tens of millions of Indians and South Asians? ~~knock out a few feet race and~~ <sup>put</sup> in kubbardi.

And, not so incidentally, another discrimination against the poor. Skillful doping, complex diets, and hi-tech training play ever-larger parts in winning, and are not affordable by the small poorer countries, <sup>by</sup> nor even the large poor countries save by unwise expenditures. Of course, the very idea of Costa Rica coming up against the Soviet Union once more plays into the hands of the vast and powerful, making the small countries seem ridiculous, and exalting the glory of bigness, one more violation of the mythical Greek ideal. Also one notes a continual increase in the commercial exploitation of the games, amounting ~~to~~ racketeering in some cases, and allowing the multi-national corporations to exploit the games too.

Is there a better way of conducting World Games? Yes. Some means have already been indicated. There is more. Divide the world according to metropolitan regions, so that <sup>every</sup> four million people grouped in and around a city constitute the basic constituency <sup>that</sup> provides the participants. There will be 1000 of these localities. Divide these by ten regions of the world (see K-Note #1). Let the best of the athletes and teams of the individual metropolises meet ~~in~~ each other in their region; then let the regional champions meet in the world competitions.

Define a game or sport as eligible for a world sport by nomination as such by 100 or more ~~metropolises~~ of the <sup>above</sup> metropolises. And ask that the criteria for a game or sport be that it <sup>has</sup> existing players who enjoy it, a constituency or public of spectators, and exalts a skill of value to humanity. Let's have less nonsense out of Homer's Iliad. Yes, riding a horse may still qualify, though few horses are used anymore; but some form of auto-racing is essential, too, along with sleds and toboggans. I mentioned kubbardi, and why not kite-playing -- so beautiful a sport -- and billiards. Ballooning, yes; angling for fish, yes, game-hunting, yes, if only for the healthy dispute between the tenderhearted and tough <sup>and</sup> minded metropolises. Survivalship, yes: when put down without resources in five extreme human environments mountain, jungle, desert, sea, a foreign primitive village, who will survive best for a month? Cab-driving? which metropolis has the best taxi-drivers in the world? Tree-climbing, yes. Corn-shucking, yes.

Now we come to other competitive and at the same time useful, exhibitionistic, and popular activities, which, however, do not stress bulk muscle. Weaving and knitting: should not the working ~~through~~ of set designs and impromptu designing be a wonderful and worthy contest, open to both sexes? We recall that one of the great Olympic Gods was ~~was~~ renowned worldwide under different names as the weaver, Aphrodite, if it is Olympics you want. And Hercules, who founded the ~~game~~ first Olympic Games, spent some time as a transvestite working on a weaving loom. The same is to be said of clothing design and working, and of poetic impromptu composition. What of cooking? As wonderful and competitive as it is, it may transcend sports into the world of artistic creation, of arts and crafts, where the production of a good and beautiful thing is the goal, and uniqueness is inevitable, and uniqueness is hard to judge although we do so all the time and every textbook on art judges what is beautiful and foists its judgements ~~on~~ upon others. And there are successful musical competitions, <sup>involving both the performing and</sup> composing of music. ~~There is every reason to have arts and crafts expositions around the world, ~~and~~ if it will help to spread good activities by making them into sports and games, (cooking teams, spinning teams, etc.), we are all for it. Yes, <sup>also</sup>, another ~~great~~ two great Olympic Gods were devoted to the arts and crafts, <sup>f</sup> Athene and Hephaestus, so we are on safe ground again. The Greeks also competed with drama and theatre.~~

9 We see healthy competition between so-called free and statist ~~societies~~ societies in all of these regards, a welcome relief from brandishing nuclear missiles, which, alas, reminds us of the brutal <sup>childish</sup> contests of the Iliad warriors of Homer and the gladiators ~~of~~ <sup>of</sup> ancient Rome.

Olymp 15

Financing the World Games of the Kalotic World should differ markedly from present methods. The financing of the Kalotic World Games ~~should be an obligation of the metropolises, supplemented by a world fund dispensed according to the relative poverty of a locality. Also, the locality should have the right to decide whether to employ an independent or voluntary or government agency as the entity for management of its participation in the Kalotic Games.~~ Of course, the ~~national~~ national states will interfere with their ~~own~~ rotten chauvinism, but that is a problem to be solved by the decline of rotten chauvinism under kalotic world pressure. The final goal will be fair, free, representative and universal games.
